Tāmaki Makaurau | Auckland

WELCOME

The CAA 2024 organising team is pleased to invite you to support the CAA International 2024 “Over the Horizon” conference. This will be held at the University of Auckland. Sponsoring the conference in 2023 presents a unique opportunity for organisations to highlight their commitment to and support of the heritage sector.

The 2024 Computer Applications and Quantitative Methods in Archaeology (CAA) International conference aims to engage heritage practitioners in the commercial, academic, and private sectors and to provide discussion on new thinking, new methods, research and education involving digital technologies. Content and activities throughout the conference align with promoting digital applications in heritage practice.

The CAA International conference brings together researchers, practitioners, and stakeholders to see local and international presentations, and contribute to and be inspired by high quality presentations and cutting edge research. The 2024 CAA International conference is hosted by the CAA Australasia chapter, the largest national chapter in the CAA network with over 250 members from Australasia and beyond.

The success of events such as this depends greatly on sponsorship from organisations such as yours. This conference will attract an expected 250+ delegates from our diverse membership, both from Australasia and abroad, providing unequalled opportunity to showcase your business.
